The Earth*

Editorial

Civilizations across the world were puzzled by the origin of the earth and have unique stories reflecting the wonder and amazement to account for Earth's existence. The earth nurtured and acted as the final resting place of man and naturally it drew a lot of speculation about what it is across ages.

The modern is no less puzzled than his ancestors. He has an added worry whether the planet will sustain the ravages inflicted on it in the name of progress for economic well being. For the past 100 years unsustainable farming, deforestation and urbanization have crossed global warming which has sent the weather patterns for a toss. No longer meteorologists are able to give fairly accurate weather forecasts. We are standing on the precipice. Unless we take a diametrically opposite direction to nurture and preserve this unique planet, we will be handing over a sterile sphere to our future generation.

This year's magazine aims at focusing the seriousness of the devastation of the earth and to draw the attention of the young minds to the beauty and wonder of this planet and their individual responsibility in caring and sustaining it. The magazine holds the impression and facts of the earth recorded by the students who have discovered the essence of the beauty of the earth.
